METHODOLOGY

ComRes interviewed 2035 GB adults online between 30th November and 2nd December 2018. Data were weighted to be demographically representative of all GB adults by age, gender, region and social grade. Voting intention questions were also weighted by past vote recall and likelihood to vote. Additional questions were weighted by 2016 EU Referendum results. ComRes is a member of the British Polling Council and abides by its rules.

Summary

Base: All respondents

	Jeremy Corbyn would have negotiated a better Brexit deal with the EU than Theresa May has done	If Theresa May loses the EU deal vote in the House of Commons on 11th December, it would be wrong to replace her as Prime Minister just now	After their handling of Brexit I expect the Conservatives to lose the next Election whoever leads the Party	After their handling of Brexit I expect the Conservatives to lose the next Election if Theresa May leads the Party	It would be humiliating if the UK ended up staying in the EU	I would be prepared to sacrifice some future UK economic growth in order to complete Brexit properly	I believe the Bank of England's warning that Britain could be plunged into the deepest recession since the 1930s under a disorderly no-deal Brexit	Warnings about the consequences of a disorderly no-deal Brexit have been wildly exaggerated

Base: All respondents

	Both the Remain and Leave campaigns misled voters in 2016	The Remain campaign misled voters in 2016 but the Leave campaign did not	The Leave campaign misled voters in 2016 but the Remain campaign did not	Neither the Remain nor Leave campaign misled voters in 2016	Remaining in the EU risks seriously undermining confidence in British democracy	The UK should stay in the EU even if some people who wanted to Leave get upset	If the UK economy is harmed by leaving the EU it will be worth it to be able to control immigration	When Brexit is complete, the UK should try to become the lowest tax, business-friendliest country in Europe, focused on building strong international trade links
